

Alberta SPCA 'ctsanimals.ca' Content Use Agreement

1. Ownership and Limitation of Permission

Any and all content created or provided by the Alberta SPCA is the property of the Alberta SPCA and copyright is owned by the Alberta SPCA. Authorized Users may not download, copy, store, publish, re-sell, or distribute Alberta SPCA ctsanimals.ca course content and materials (the "Content") in any form, except as expressed in this Agreement, or as otherwise authorized in writing by the Alberta SPCA. By indicating acceptance of these terms, Authorized Users do not become the owner of any Content but are entitled to use the Content strictly according to the terms of this Agreement. Your license to use the Content is for non-commercial, educational use only.

2. License and Timeframe

You and any registered students (Authorized User) within your school/school board are granted a license to use, download, copy, and access the Content for a specific limited period of time of 2 years. At the end of this period, your authorization to use the Content automatically expires, unless you or your school/school board has renewed this Agreement. Upon expiration, all Content, and copies of Content must be deleted.

3. Reporting

Authorized User must report number of students who accessed each of the available CTSanimals.ca courses. These numbers are crucial for Alberta SPCA reporting. The Alberta SPCA will reach out by email to Authorized User near the end of the school year to request student numbers. Failing to report this information nullifies this agreement. If the Authorized User is no longer responsible for this agreement or use of the courses, the school/school board is responsible for updating any user and contact information.

4. Termination

Authorized Users can cease use of the Content at any time. The Alberta SPCA reserves the right to terminate this Agreement or suspend access if any Authorized User fails is in breach of any other term.

5. Limitations

Access to the ctsanimals.ca site and the Content does not include any technical support, and access may be subject to browser requirements, as well as hardware and software minimum requirements.

6. Disclaimer

The Content is made available for educational and informational purposes only. CTSanimals course editors and authors have conscientiously attempted to provide up-to-date information, referencing the most recent codes of practice. However, standards and practices in animal care change as new scientific data is made available. Although updates to Content are issued periodically we do not guarantee the timeliness of updated Content, nor the completeness or accuracy of the Content.

The Alberta SPCA will not be liable for any monetary damages whatsoever with respect to any Authorized User's use of or access to the Content. The entire risk as to the results and performance of our ctsanimals.ca site or the Content is assumed by the user.

7. Changes

We reserve the right to reasonably modify user terms to keep up with changes in the law and circumstance. Any changes to user terms will be posted on our website. By continuing to use or access our services or site after a change is posted, you consent to the modified terms of the user terms.

Should you have any questions, please contact Melissa Logan, at mlogan@albertaspca.org
